

Project objectives

To determine the nature and extent of migratory flight in Heliothis armigera and Heliothis punctigera, and to estimate the significance of migration in the formation of outbreaks and in the spread of insecticide resistance in these pests.

Work on 1954-1955