CottonInfo videos, calendar and more!

Did you know that we have our own youtube channel?

On it, you can find a series of videos from our team on a wide range of cotton topics, from assessing the maturity of a crop to preserving beneficials. Today we're bringing you the first in a series of short videos from cotton researchers Paul and Tonia Grundy on cotton's growth stages. For more, visit www.youtube.com/CottonInfoAust.

Don't miss out on your 2015 cotton calendar:

CottonInfo has partnered with Wincott to bring you the 2015 cotton calendar, healthy cotton farms and families. The calendar features a range of stunning images from our industry's talented photographers. You can take a look at the calendar online here, or request your free copy from CottonInfo by clicking here (please note, our office is now shut for the Christmas break, but we'll get a copy of the calendar in the post to you very early in the new year!).

Have you visited myBMP lately?

If not, then we recommend heading over to the website today!

Our team of technical specialists and myBMP staff undertook the annual update at the end of October, and there's lots of new, interesting content for growers.

One of the modules to undergo a major update was Natural Assets, capturing best practice recommendations for groundwater, riverine and ecosystems services, based on extensive research over the past five years. The new module also contains changes in NRM legislation in QLD and NSW, plus new resources and tools to help you put best practice in place on your farm. Check it out today at www.mybmp.com.au.

Merry Christmas!

This is the final CottonInfo e-news for 2014. On behalf of all of our team, we wish you a very merry Christmas, and a happy, safe and hopefully wet new year! We'll be back on 5 January with the first CottonInfo moisture manager for 2015.
