

AgChatOZ

Danica Leys, Tom Whitty and Sam Livingstone
Contact: www.agchatoz.org.au

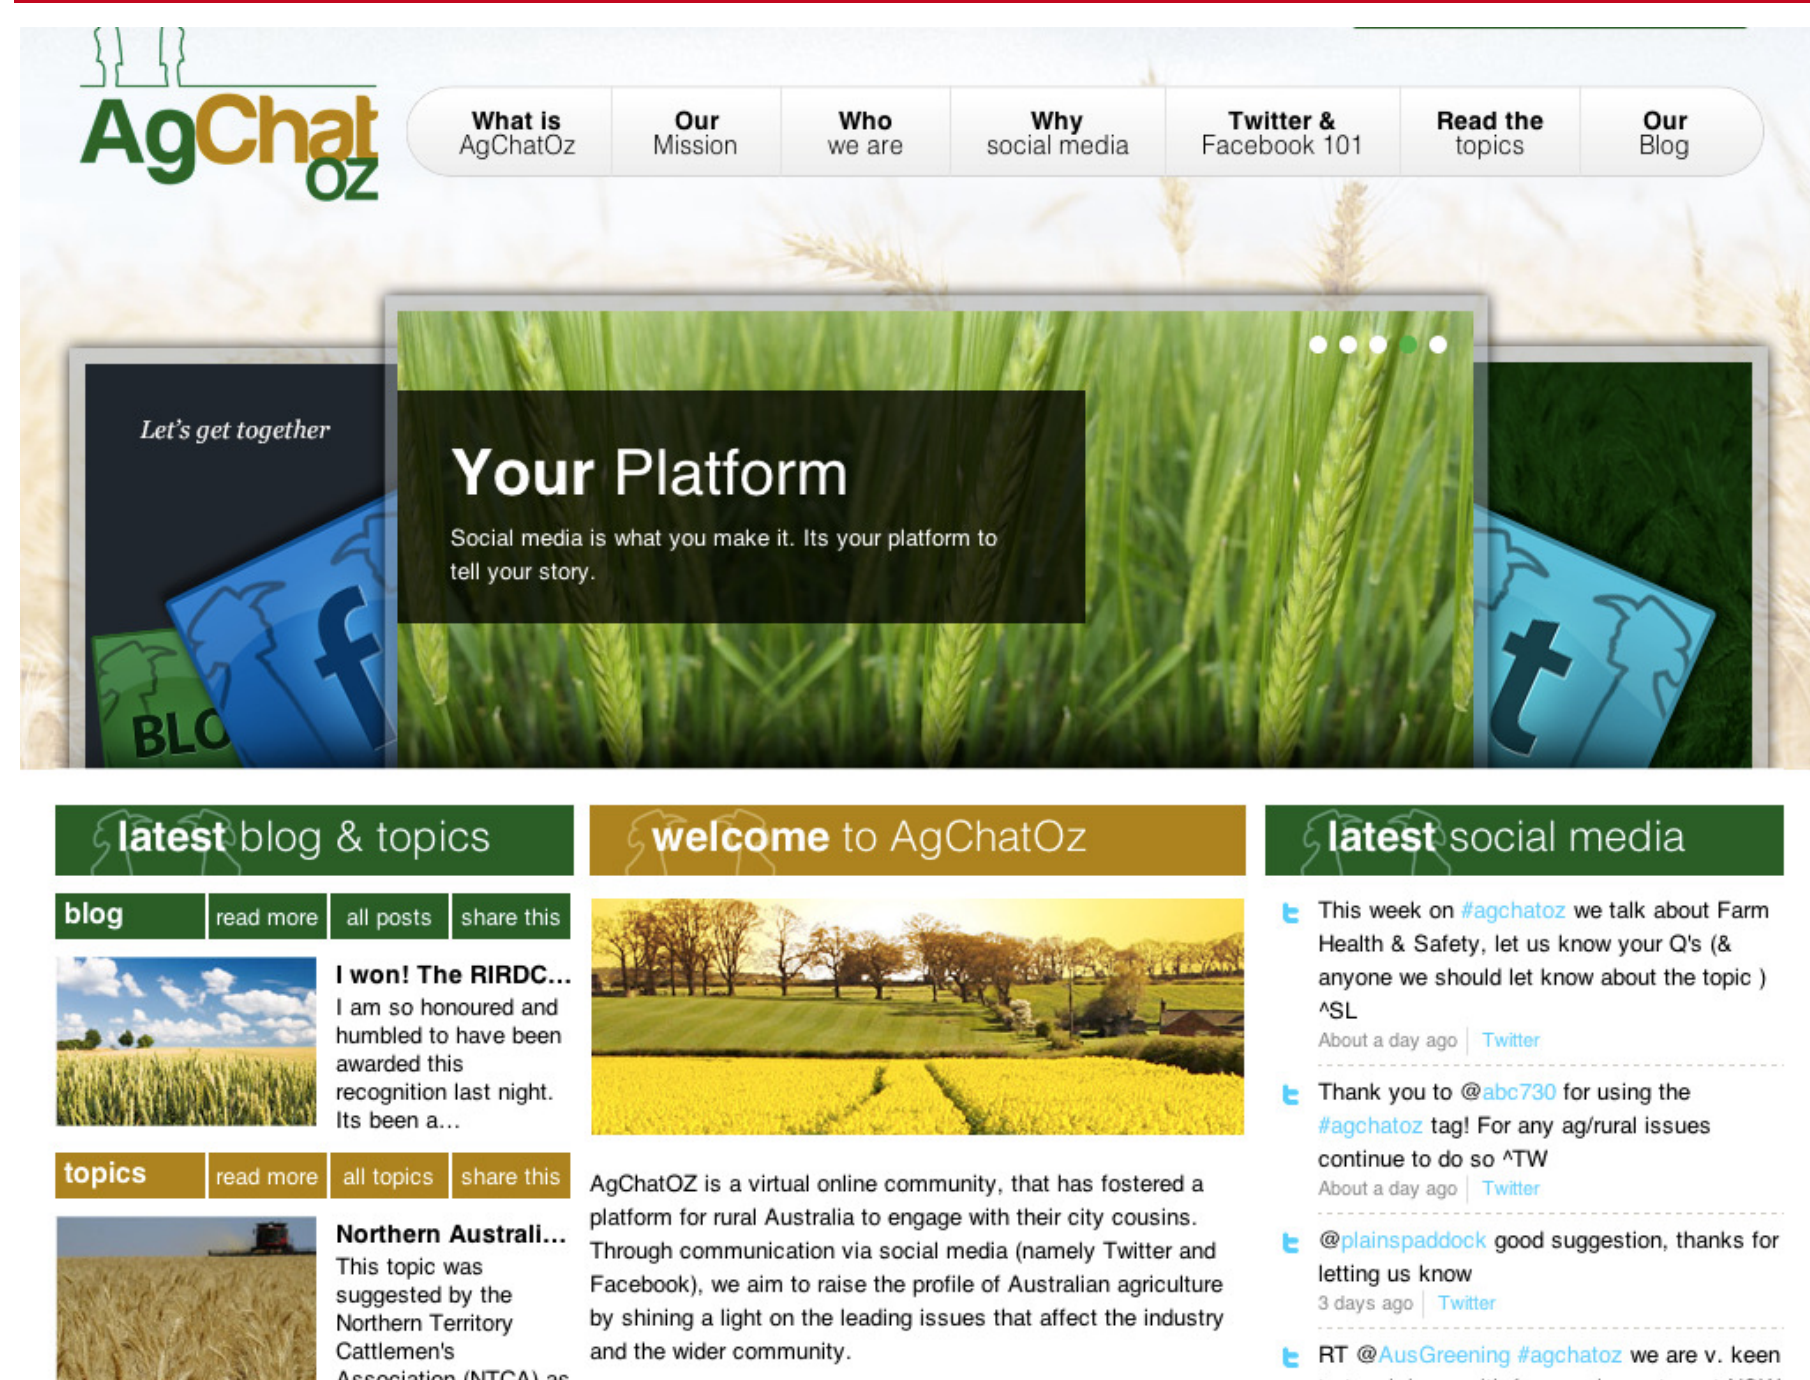

AgChatOZ is a virtual online community, that has fostered a platform for rural Australia to engage with their city cousins.

Through communication via social media (namely Twitter and Facebook), we aim to raise the profile of Australian agriculture by shining a light on the leading issues that affect the industry and the wider community.

Online conversations about agriculture are one of the many tools we can utilise to bring the city closer to the country.

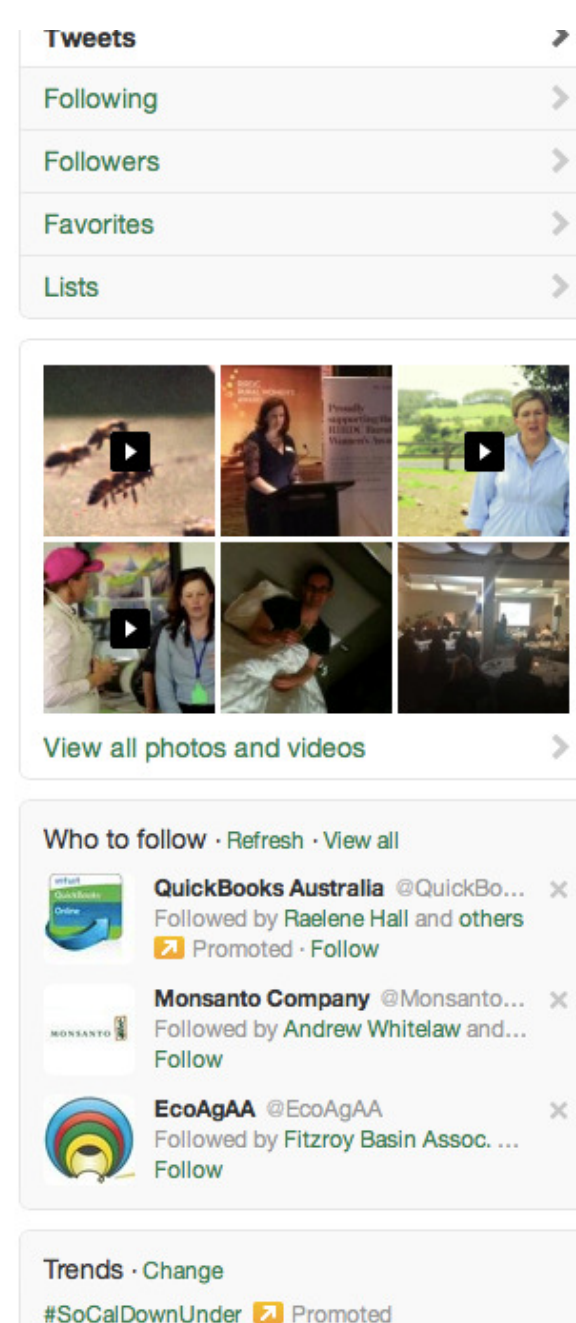

AgChatOZ is a non political, non-profit "agvocacy" organisation.

We encourage everyone and anyone with an interest in food, agriculture and the country way of life to get involved.

You can visit the website, www.agchatoz.org.au to find out more about how to become involved.

AgChatOZ Co-founders
Sam Livingstone, Danica Leys and Tom Whitty

Join us on twitter by using the hashtag "#agchatoz", see you online soon!

Sustaining Rural Communities

CONFERENCE 2013